House Leaders Want Action On Tax Bill

Believe Bill Can Be Ready By Next Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—House leaders began efforts today to have all members back on the job by next Tuesday to expedite final congressional action on the $3,583,900,000 tax bill.

Acting Speaker Woodrum (D-Va.) said Speaker Rayburn had telegraphed from Texas a suggestion that if the joint senate-house conference report on the bill can be ready next week it can be acted upon immediately.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, said that he was preparing to ask members of his party to be back not later than Tuesday on the assumption that the tax conferees would have reached agreement by that time.

Agreed On Some Points

The conferees, attempting to reconcile differing versions of the tax measure passed by the house and senate, reached agreements on several technical points, at a morning session.

Senator Capper (R-Kas.), one of the group, said that minor points had been settled. Others reported after their first meeting that nothing was done on the question of lowering individual income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons.

Although the senate bill called for $3,538,900,000 in new revenue—$367,500,000 more than provided for by the house, leaders in both chambers expressed optimism that the conferees would be able to agree on a compromise version by the end of the week.

Losing Money Daily

If the conferees needed any added incentive for quick work, there was the fact that the treasury theoretically is losing an estimated $2,000,000 a day pending the effectiveness of the new excise levies provided for by the measure.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee, who guided the history-making legislation through the senate, agreed with Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee that only two or three days would be needed to adjust differences between the separate chambers.

Does Not Oppose Amendment

Doughton sought to help the compromise work along with a statement that he had "no particular objection" to a senate amendment reducing personal income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons.

That amendment, however, conceivably might produce considerable discussion, for there was talk that some house conferees preferred to have the exemption of married persons reduced only to $1,750.

Two New Members In Lions Club

Two young Sedalia business men, Charles Maggard, with the Milton Oil company and Felix Lynes, with the Farm Credit Administration, were initiated into the Lions club, at its noonday luncheon meeting today, at the St. Francis hotel.

The speaker at today's luncheon session was J. L. Curry, an employee of the Missouri Pacific shops, who spoke on "Sedalia and The Shops."

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 10.—(P)—The city council voted last night against renting the public auditorium to Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana for an America First Committee speech.

Defense Bond Quiz Corner

Q. Are newspapers paid for printing Defense Savings Bond Quizzes?

A. No. Publication of these Quizzes and other information about Defense Bonds and Stamps is a voluntary patriotic contribution on the part of the newspapers in the cause of National Defense, and one in which participation by the nation's newspapers is practically unanimous.

Q. Does the Government pay radio stations for Defense Savings Bond and Stamp announcements?

A. No. These are furnished free by the broadcasters of the country, who are cooperating almost without exception in this program to help America arm.

Note—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Charges Theatres Are Forced To Show Propaganda Films

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—Senator Clark (D-Mo.) charged before a senate investigating committee today that a half dozen men who he said controlled the motion picture industry were bent on inflaming the American people to "clamor for war."

Clark took the stand as an interstate commerce subcommittee began its second day of inquiry into the alleged dissemination of war propaganda. He testified after Wendell L. Willkie, representing motion picture producers, had demanded in a letter to Chairman Clark (D-Idaho) that the committee view alleged propaganda pictures.

"Before anyone is accused and subjected to inquisitorial proceedings," Willkie asserted, "there should be reasonable grounds to believe that an offense has, in fact, been committed." He contended that Senator Nye (R-ND) who labeled several pictures yesterday as propaganda vehicles, had viewed only one or two of them.

Asks For Facts

Willkie also made public a letter to Chairman Clark in which he urged that the committee prove or disprove at once an assertion by Senator Nye (R-ND) that the government had requested a moving picture producer to make propaganda films.

Asserting that persons opposed to the administration's foreign policy had not been able to "get a foot of film or a syllable of sound anywhere, any day in any of the 17,000 theaters of this country," Clark of Missouri declared that the motion picture industry was turning out "dozens of pictures . . . to infect the minds of their audiences with hatred, to inflame them, to arouse their emotions and to make them clamor for war."

"That is because the motion picture industry is a monopoly controlled by a half dozen men and because most of these men are themselves dominated by these hatreds and are determined in order to wreak vengeance on Adolf Hitler, a ferocious beast, to plunge this nation into war in

Radio Address Is Completed

President Will Deliver It At 8 P. M. Thursday

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—President Roosevelt completed today a radio address on foreign affairs, to be made from the White House tomorrow night, and underscored the vital importance he has attached to it by nearly doubling its length.

Timed for 8 p. m. CST, it will run about 25 minutes instead of the quarter hour originally planned. White House officials said were not divulging the specific phases of the international situation with which the chief executive would deal.

Conjecture about subject matter developed largely around the chances of his discussing the battle of the Atlantic, and incidents which have emphasized its dangers for American men and ships.

Mr. Roosevelt finished his speech just before leaving his home at Hyde Park, N.Y., on a special train bound for Washington.

Pressing Problems Aside

Because of his mother's death, the chief executive had put aside for several days most of the pressing problems of his office. But he asked his secretary to make appointments for him in Washington, either for tonight or tomorrow, with Secretaries Hull, Knox and Stimson.

Harry L. Hopkins, lease-lend director, was boarding the presidential special in New York to report, during the trip to the capital, on the aid program and international developments from which Mr. Roosevelt has been somewhat isolated.

Also getting on in New York was Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York State Supreme Court, who has been studying re-

War Skulking Near Japanese Council Door

Tokyo Government Is In A Tight And Precarious Position

By Dewitt Mackenzie

On the basis of somewhat auspicious signs one is not too optimistic in believing that a real effort has been made during the past few days in the direction of an accord between the United States and Japan over the grave differences which have arisen as the result of Tokyo's expansionist policy.

It would be folly, however, not to recognize that war is skulking outside the doors of the Japanese council chambers where midnight oil has been burning. The Tokyo government is in a tight and precarious position. The majority of the people of the island empire are against war with America, but at the same time they appear to be unwilling to stand for abandonment of the policy of a new order for Asia.

Public Might Object

Should the government give up this cardinal program, which already has cost so many lives in battle and has brought the country to grave economic straits, there certainly would be a mighty outcry from the public. Indeed, some observers believe that it might precipitate a revolt. The strong probabilities are that Premier Prince Koyama and his cabinet have been trying to figure out some sort of compromise between the extreme of war on the one hand and the desertion of the cherished new order on the other. It is a difficult and momentous problem, and there can be small doubt that war and peace have been balanced uncertainly on a razor edge before the harassed ministers of state.

Considering Leaving Areas

One vital problem which must have been under consideration is whether Nippon should cut loose from the axis. Such a switch, while startling has plenty of precedent to encourage it, and they do tell us that only fools and dead men never change their minds.

The Japanese backed a doubtful horse when they subscribed to the axis back in November of last year, but it certainly looked a good deal more like a winner then than it does now. What the Nipponese overlooked was that it might not be a good mud-horse, or maybe they figured there wouldn't be any mud. Anybody.

Cooler Weather In Most States

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(P)—Football weather chilled most of the nine states in the north central district today.

Temperatures dropped to near the freezing point in several sections, Grand Forks and Jamestown, N. D., reported 33 as the lowest. Watertown, S. D., and Sidney, Neb., had 35; Alexandria and Hickley, Minn., 39; Charles City, Iowa, 43; Mausau, Wis., 45, and Moline, Ill., 47. Chicago had a low of 54, with 48 due tonight.

Arrival of the chilly weather, however, also brought clear skies and the end of recent rainfall in most sections.

Forecaster A. J. Knarr said the cool weather was moving east and by tonight or tomorrow would cover virtually all of the nation east of the Rocky Mountains, then the mercury will rise gradually.

Martin Returns From China

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—(P)—Frank L. Martin, Jr., a foreign correspondent returning from the Orient, said today 22 months in the Far East had convinced him Japan had abandoned hope of conquering China.

"Its efforts now are to make the conquered territory profitable," he said as he visited here with his mother on the way to Columbia, Mo.

The son of the late Dean Frank L. Martin, head of the department of journalism at the University of Missouri, spent 22 months in China, serving the last seven months as Associated Press correspondent in Saigon, Indo-China. He was there when the Japanese occupied the country.

Without revealing the source, he said in an interview that a German consul told "someone that Germany cannot hope to keep Japan as an axis aid and ally" because of economic pressure imposed by the democracies.

Martin traveled over the Burma road with a British military attaché on a truck to Chungking and spent four months with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's staff, under repeated bombings. The road, he said, was choked with supplies.

Martin, 29 years old, is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

Bulk Of Estate To President

POUGHKEEPSIE N. Y., Sept. 10.—(P)—Sara Delano Roosevelt left the bulk of her estate of "over $5,000 real and over $5,000 personal property" to her president son in a will filed for probate today.

The will, dated Sept. 20, 1928, placed one-tenth of the residue in six equal trust funds for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt and five grandchildren, Mrs. John Boettiger, and James, Elliott, Franklin D. and John A. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt bequeathed $5,000 to weathered St. James church Hyde Park, behind which she was buried yesterday.

The president Arthur J. Morris, Poughkeepsie banker, and Henry T. Hackett, Poughkeepsie attorney, were named executors.

Russian Army Is Isolated In Leningrad

Fierce Fighting As Germans Gather To Storm City

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—(P)—High quarters intimated today that the German army might decide to starve and shell Leningrad into surrender rather than undertake a costly storming of the beleaguered city.

German forces are reported to be within 15 miles of Leningrad at the nearest point.

Authorized sources acknowledged that the city had not yet been cut off from access to Lake Ladoga, but said it was otherwise surrounded and the Ladoga connection was declared to be of diminishing value.

Dispatches from the front indicated that the great conflict for possession of the former capital of Russia's czars was becoming more bitter with each passing hour, with Russians "firing from all barrels"—as one German war correspondent put it.

Battle Area An Inferno

A Nazi reporter who flew over the lines described the battle area as an inferno of rifle, artillery and machine-gun fire.

(The Berlin radio, broadcasting a report from "competent quarters," meanwhile declared that on the central front the Germans had captured Vyazma, which is 90 miles east of Smolensk and but 130 miles west of Moscow. Vyazma is 60 miles northeast of Yelna where the Russians report their counter-offensive toward Smolensk still going strong.)

Government quarters still would not hazard a guess as to how long the former czarist capital of Leningrad would be able to stand the German pressure from the south and the Finnish pressure from the north.

German artillery, however, was reported pouring a devastating fire into Leningrad's industrial and military machinery. Pilots reported fires raging in the area, guiding them to their targets like beacons.

The city was declared to be largely dependent upon electrical power from the outside, especially from power plants along the Svir river to the east of Lake Ladoga. The Finns have reported reaching that river.

The German air force, also was

Girls Use Elbow Grease Preparing For Rush Week

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 10.—(P)—Dust rags, sweepers, mops, and brooms mixed with good hard elbow grease hold priority rights on the campus at the University of Missouri this week. Some 1,500 fraternity and sorority members are getting chapter houses clean for rush week which opens officially at noon Friday, September 12.

Most sororities required all members to be back by early this week. Late comers faced with fines ranging up to $5. The men will struggle in all week, the later they come the less work they must do.

New Girls Discussed

Sorority girls are in for a week of work. Each girl must memorize the name, description, and alma mater of every rushee. It isn't a steady fast rule but competition is so keen it has become almost a necessity. Before festivities start Friday, skits must be rehearsed, lines learned for plays, song practices held, everything done to entertain the prospective members. Meetings are held and the new crop of girls discussed and voted upon for bids, before they ever arrive.

When rushees arrive they will be quartered in a hotel. The rushing period which ends Sunday evening is divided into dates. All summer, members have been busy corresponding with girls planning on entering the university getting these dates. The girls will be called for and returned to the hotel at the end of each date. They are not allowed to talk with anyone during the date except members of the sorority they are visiting. At the end of the week the rushee will declare her preference and if she has been invited to join the same sorority, she will then become a pledge. Formal pledging takes place Monday, September 15.

Boys Sing At Dinner With fraternities it is a different story. There are no skits, plays or parties for the pleasure of the male rushee. No songs are rehearsed except for a few of the fraternities which have glee clubs; most of the singing is done at the dinner table.

Late News From War Countries

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—The State Department disclosed today that the American-owned freighter Sessa was both torpedoed and shelled by a submarine presumed to be German, without warning, while en route from Iceland to the United States.

The Sessa, according to statements by three survivors picked up by the American destroyer Lansdale, sank 20 minutes after being torpedoed.

The State Department announced that it had been informed by the Navy Department that the survivors of the Sessa picked up by the Lansdale were H. K. Bierre-Jaard, chief mate, a Danish subject; G. L. T. Ljunggren, able seaman, a Swedish subject; and J. De Oliveria Correia, able seaman, a Portuguese citizen.

The Sessa's survivors, the State Department said, are not now on the Lansdale, and it is assumed they have been landed in Iceland.

While they were still aboard the American destroyer, the department said, they made the following statement:

"The Sessa was torpedoed without warning at midnight August 17 about 300 miles from Reykjavik while proceeding from New York to that port.

"After the torpedoing the Sessa was struck amidships by two shells. The Sessa sank 20 minutes after being torpedoed."

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(P)—Bad weather halted royal air force offensive operations over the continent and German attacks on England during the night.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—(P)—High German quarters, reversing earlier assertions that Leningrad and its 1,000,000 Red army defenders were doomed to quick surrender, indicated today that Adolf Hitler's invasion forces now might decide to shell or starve the old czarist capital into submission.

Kansas River Running Wild

TOPEKA, Sept. 10.—(P)—The Neosho river, "bad boy" of Kansas streams, is running wild again. Federal Meteorologist S. D. Flora predicts its overflow will become even worse from Chautauque south tomorrow.

Chanute had a crest of 25.8 feet, 5.8 above bankfull, this morning. The river stood at 25 feet at Parsons compared with a flood stage of 22. The meteorologist forecast a crest of 26 to 27 feet at Parsons tomorrow morning. The river does not threaten Parsons itself but it was over much rich farm land today and farmers were moving livestock to higher grounds.

At Iola the Neosho still was 3 feet out of its banks but above there the overflow was moderate. The Cottonwood, which joins the Neosho east of Emporia, finally started to fall but it remained 4.8 feet above the flood stage of 20.

Parsons compared with a flood stage of 22. The meteorologist forecast a crest of 26 to 27 feet at Parsons tomorrow morning.

Reds Claim Victory On Central Front

Route German Infantry; Inflict Many Casualties

MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—(P)—The Red army reported today it had routed the 29th German infantry division in a powerful attack in the Gomel sector of the eastern front, inflicting thousands of casualties.

Gomel is about mid way between Kiev and the Smolensk sector where the Russians said a bloody expulsion of a strong Nazi spearhead from a 150-square mile zone had dealt a heavy blow to Adolf Hitler's legions.

The army counter attacks in both vital sectors were understood to be continuing full blast.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said the sweeping counter offensive was launched in the Gomel area after the Russians had smashed repeated German attacks on the Red army positions.

Germans Retreated

"The routed enemy division retreated, leaving thousands of corpses on the battlefield," it reported.

"Our land forces alone destroyed 47 German tanks, 11 field guns, six armored cars and 96 automobiles."

"The staff of the 15th motorized regiment was routed, 12 officers of which were killed."

In another sector, designated only as village "K" Tass said the Germans massed large forces supported by artillery and mine throwers to attack "our very advantageous" positions but were repelled by concentrated fire in a first charge and by a flanking counter attack when they attacked again.

German Loss Heavy

German losses were almost 600 killed and wounded the agency said. It listed 12 machine guns, a mine thrower battery and two fuel tank cars in the Russian booty.

"The impending rout of all German armies," said S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, "can already be disclosed."

Luftwaffe bombers struck twice toward Moscow in the night and the blacked out capital was under an alarm for a total of four hours, 50 minutes, but it was announced officially that the raiders were dispersed by Soviet night fighters and anti aircraft fire.

One of the swastika marked bombers was said to have been shot down, the reported destruction of two hostile scouting planes near Moscow.

Equipment Destroyed

The Soviet information bureau said Red Army troops "continued to engage the enemy on the entire front" overnight and told

The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—Former King Carol and his companion, Madame Lupescu, currently domiciled in Mexico City, will not visit Washington. They would love to more than anything else. But it's out.

Authority for this interesting item of social news is Mrs. Evie Robert, beautiful blonde wife of the former secretary of the Democratic National committee. Evie has good grounds for her information. She got it straight from Carol himself.

This is the way it happened: Evie and her husband, "Chip," were dinner guests of Carol and his famed friend. Evie, seated next to the former Rumanian monarch, asked him why he didn't come to Washington.

"The one place I want to go more than anywhere on this hemisphere," he replied with a sigh, "is the capital of your great country. I have heard so much about it, but, alas, I cannot do it. It is impossible."

"But why? We are a hospitable people." "It is this way. Through certain sources an inquiry was made of Mrs. Roosevelt concerning Madame Lupescu. It was asked whether Madam would be received at the White House. The answer from Mrs. Roosevelt was no. Under those circumstances I cannot go to Washington. Much as I want to see your great capital city, I would not go without Madame Lupescu."

Hoarded Defense Materials
The new seven-man Supply, Priorities and Allocation Board, headed by Vice-President Wallace, was not just making talk when it warned that "materials hoarded in the cellars and attics of certain industries will be routed out." There is plenty of fire behind this smoke. It is not generally known, but the new board is armed to the teeth with authority both to ferret out and to commandeer these hidden stores.

Buried unnoticed in the expanded draft-industry law passed by Congress last May, is this significant language: "The president shall be entitled to obtain such information from, require such reports by, and make such inspection of premises of, any person, firm or corporation as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this section."

Coupled with the greatly enlarged powers to seize property, this clause gives the president sweeping control over all raw materials in private possession. This authority he delegated in toto to Wallace's new board.

Known only to defense insiders, also, is the fact that a nationwide checkup on hoarded material already is underway.

Inventory questionnaires went out to 65,000 firms, requiring them to make sworn statements on their holdings of 16 basic metals. The Census Bureau is handling the job of tabulating these reports; and from the information so far collected it is apparent that there is plenty of hoarding.

Wallace's board has three courses open to it in cracking down on speculators and hoarders:

(1) It can seize the excess stockpiles at a government-fixed price; (2) it can deprive the companies of raw materials until they have exhausted their hoardings; (3) it can require them to use their reserves wholly for defense and essential civilian goods.

NOTE: For military reasons, results of the Wallace board survey are closely guarded, but certain industries are due for drastic cuts in their priority grants. Their returns show that they were allowed to obtain quantities of materials far beyond the amount of defense they are now producing.

Capital Chaff
The State Department is planning to hire Lawrence Cramer, whom Ickes fired as governor of the Virgin Islands, to head its new bureau in charge of the Caribbean islands. Yet the State Department wants this new bureau to cooperate with Ickes regarding U. S. islands in the Caribbean. . . . Dave Niles has been requested to soften Ickes for the Cramer appointment. . . . Just before the Nazi submarine attack on the U. S. Destroyer Greer, three U. S. tankers had proceeded to Iceland where they transhipped oil to British tankers, which then proceeded to England. . . . This cut the usual ocean haul for the British by about one-third. And of course the U. S. tankers had U. S. protection as far as Iceland. . . . Despite the howls of General Maxwell, Budget Director Harold Smith has shaved the budget of Maxwell's Export Control office from $3,000,000 to $1,000,000. This is the office which passes life or death sentences on the right of Latin American countries to obtain vital materials here.

Squirrel Diplomacy
Tall, curly-haired Australian Minister Richard G. Casey became involved in a rather delicate situation during a recent trip to Oklahoma—but, diplomat that he is, he wiggled out.

The situation had to do with squirrel meat. Casey went to Oklahoma to address the state American Legion convention at Muskogee, and while there was invited to a squirrel and spare-rib barbecue at a nearby country club. All went well until a platter of the main course was placed before him. Suddenly the Australian minister lost his appetite.

"What's the trouble, Mr. Minister?" inquired Rep. Jack Nichols. "Aren't you hungry?" "Oh, yes," replied Casey, nibbling at a spare-rib. "But you see this squirrel meat is new to me. We don't have any squirrels in Australia."

"Go ahead and try some," someone urged. "You'll like it. Squirrel is a great delicacy in this country."

But Casey still hesitated. Then, flashing his handsomest smile, he explained: "You see, my little girl, who is 12 and my boy, who is 9, hadn't seen any squirrels until they came to this country, and they became quite attached to them in Washington parks. In fact, my boy is so fond of squirrels that he put me on my honor not to eat any squirrels when I left for Oklahoma."

That's neat diplomacy for you!

America First Funds
The America First Committee has steadfastly refused to divulge any information about its source of funds or size of contributions. But as a result of the recent special congressional election in the First Wisconsin District, the Wisconsin branch of the America First Committee may be forced to open its books.

State Attorney General John E. Martin has announced his intention to order the chapter to file an official report on its expenditures in the contest.

The America First organization took a very active part in the campaign in behalf of Lawrence H. Smith, successful Republican candidate who ran on an isolationist platform, and Wisconsin law requires all organizations participating in political campaigns to file detailed expense accounts. Martin now holds this over the America First Committee. Whether it will submit a report remains to be seen. So far the committee has been very secretive about its finances.

Dutch vs. Nazis
Diplomatic dispatches indicate that popular unrest is rampant not only in France but in the low countries as well.

In the Dutch town of Haarlam, a Dutch Nazi leader named Anton Mussert rose to deliver an address inaugurating a Dutch Nazi district building. As soon as he opened his mouth, hundreds of bicycle bells began to ring in chorus.

This sabotage was kept up until police cleared the unruly elements away from the building. When that was done, there was no one left in the audience except the burgomaster of Haarlam and Nazi officials.

Senatorial Oysters
Into the oyster bar in the Grand Central Station, New York, walked Harry Buckman, Washington engineer. He ordered clams. Presently he heard a delicate sucking sound from the man on the next stool. He found that it was Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island.

"Well, what are you doing here?" asked Buckman. "Have you discovered this place too?" "Discovered it?" said Senator Green. "I discovered it 41 years ago. I was the first customer to be served at this bar when it was first opened in 1900."

So They Say

I would rather own a U. S. bond which is part of a national indebtedness of 150 billion dollars, with Hitler out of the world than a bond which is part of a 50-billion-dollar debt with Hitler still in the world.—Wendell Willkie, 1940 GOP presidential candidate.

America's problems are for Americans to solve. We do not think for America. It is up to her to decide her own business.—Jack Jones, Welsh novelist.

Why was it necessary for the Nazis to shackle German women? I think it was necessary because women's interests, her drives, and her values are always toward the fuller, freer life.—Harriet Elliott, consumer administrator, OPA, OEM.

There is no justification whatever in dipping further into the poor man's income until adequate excess profits levies are made.—Senator La Follette, Wisconsin.

Looking Backward

• forty years ago . . .

After last night's drill by the Sedalia Rifles, Capt. James was requested to hold a business meeting for some unexplained purpose, when Sergeant George Anamosa, on behalf of the members of the company, presented the genial captain with a handsome office chair.

A guest at the Kaiser hotel started to ascend the stairs last night from the storm door just inside the outside door. He didn't see the large plate glass that formed one side of the storm door and walked into it, thinking there was no obstruction. The glass, worth $75 was pushed out and broken into pieces.

The Missouri Photographers' Association met in its eighth annual convention at Pertle Springs yesterday. About seventy-five members are in attendance. The session will last three days and an interesting program has been arranged.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- Should a house guest take a nonchalant attitude toward gathering up his belongings when he leaves, saying to his hostess, "If I leave anything just mail it on to me?"
- Is it good manners for a house-guest to be indefinite about when he plans to leave and then tell his hostess a few hours before he goes?
- Should a house-guest complain bitterly about the weather if it happens to rain a great deal during his visit, when he had counted on good weather?
- If your hostess is a very close friend, is it necessary to write her a bread and butter letter?
- Is it necessary to write a bread-and-butter letter after visiting relatives?

- What would you do if—
You are a house-guest—
(a) Be ready for meals the minute they are announced?
(b) Plan on combing your hair or changing your clothes after meals are announced?
- Answers
1. No. He should make an effort to leave nothing behind him, as it is asking too much to expect a hostess to mail belongings left carelessly behind.
2. No. For a hostess has to make her own plans and can't unless she knows how long a guest plans to stay.
3. No.
4. Yes.
5. Yes.

Nearing End Of Schedule Cards Worry

Joe Di Maggio Out Since August 13 Returns To Lineup

Associated Press Sports Writer
Rain falls on the rich and poor alike and it was an impartial storm that washed out both the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

Neither team liked it because the downpour created two double-headers today—the Dodgers at Chicago and the Phillies at St. Louis—right on the threshold of vitally important three-game clash of the National League leaders with each other.

But the weatherman by a slight slip at this stage of the crucial competition in the senior circuit could crush the Cardinals virtually out of sight. Trailing by three games, they need to have every contest played in order to maintain their opportunity of catching up.

Uneasy Weather
The weather forecast in the Midwest today was cloudy with possible showers. If anything should prevent today's encounters they would be wiped off the schedule.

Any games rained out of the schedule now means Brooklyn has to win less and St. Louis must win more.

Except for the contests involving the National League leaders all other games yesterday were rained off on schedule.

Babe Young hit his 23rd and 24th homers to earn a 4-2 victory for the New York Giants over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cincinnati Reds clustered six runs in the third inning to bag a free-swinging battle from the Boston Braves, 9-7, for Bucky Walters' 17th win.

Twenty-Third For Feller
In the American League Bobby Feller obtained his 23rd triumph with nine-hit pitching as the Cleveland Indians overpowered the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-7.

The New York Yankees squeezed to a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Browns on Tom Henrich's 28th homer in the eighth inning.

Joe DiMaggio returned to the lineup of the American League champions for the first time since he twisted an ankle August 19 at Detroit and made a single by way of showing he was ready to go.

Dick Newsome pitched four-hit ball to shut out the Detroit Tigers 6-0, for the Boston Red Sox.

The Washington Senators whipped the Chicago White Sox, 7-2, last night, with young Arnold Anderson choking off the Sox when they had men on base.

Columbus Red Birds In Major League Deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 10.—(P)—Two members of the champion Columbus Red Birds of the American Association and one of their promising recruits went to major league clubs in deals announced today.

First Baseman Ray Sanders of the Birds and Outfielder Stanley Musial, who has been playing at Rochester in the International league, were included in a sale of contracts to the parent St. Louis Cardinals.

Bert Haas, star third sacker goes to the Cincinnati Reds in a straight cash deal.

All three will remain with their clubs until the season ends.

Laws Governing Dove Hunting

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 10.—The federal migratory game bird regulations recently announced for 1941, and automatically adopted by the Missouri Conservation Commission, made only one change applicable to dove hunting, according to I. T. Bode, commission director.

The dove season was shortened from 77 to 42 days. It opened September 1 and will close October 12. All other regulations remain the same. Bode announced in answer to a flood of inquiries from dove hunters.

Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset, and a daily bag of 12 doves is permitted. One may not have more than 12 doves in his possession at any time.

Any kind of shotgun not larger than 10 gauge is permissible, but a rifle may not be used in hunting doves. Repeating shotguns must be plugged to 3-shell capacity in chamber and magazine combined.

No federal stamp, corresponding to the "duck stamp," is required of the dove hunter, although the hunter must be prepared, of course, to show his county or state hunting permit.

Dove hunters also were warned that it is illegal to shoot migratory game birds from an automobile. Shooting along or across a public road also is prohibited by state statute.

The police are conducting a traffic drive on speeders, careless drivers, and improper parking, especially on drivers of taxicabs and grocery trucks.

During the month of August, there were twenty-three automobile accidents, three in which personal injuries occurred, twenty where there was property damage.

Big Six Is Underway In Grid Practice

Kansas And Missouri Have Plenty Material For Football Squads

BY HAROLD CLAASEN
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—(P)—

Even the weatherman knew that the football practice started in the Big Six today and came forth with a prediction of temperatures in the comfortable 70's.

At both Kansas and Missouri the hopefuls will cavort on gridirons softened by recent rains. That should be no handicap, however.

Gwynn Henry, the Jayhawk coach, will be in a hurry to get a peek at the talent said to be the finest on Mount Oread in the past seven years. Certainly, it is the best since Henry took over three years ago.

Faurot Loses No Time
And at Columbia, Coach Don Faurot will lose little time telling his squad championships aren't won in September. The Tigers are slight favorites over Oklahoma and Nebraska for the 1941 banner, especially if Faurot can locate a pair of tackles.

Missouri has Capt. Darold Jenkins at center, fair strength at the other line points and a horde of backfield aces. Loss of Paul Christman by graduation has brought a change in the Tiger offense but passes remain part of the scheme.

The ambidextrous Maurice (Red) Wade, out last season with a back injury, will do the flipping. Wade, a sophomore, also kicks with either foot.

At Oklahoma Dewey (Snorter) Luster begins the transformation of the Sooners from a bump and bruise eleven to a here-it-is-throw-we-go machine in secret.

Luster Begins Work
Explaining that "certain things have arisen," Luster said that all his drills except those on Mondays would be held in private.

Behind the locked gates he will hunt for a center and add a collegiate touch to the A-formation he brought along from the New York Grid Giants.

Nebraska's chances of repeating depend heavily upon the veterans back from the Rose Bowl crew of a year ago. Coach L. M. (Biff) Jones has enough lettermen for a complete line and a trio of backs, including Vike Francis.

He is expected to share some of the headlines with Howard Debus, sophomore husky, who can do everything asked of a ball carrier.

Iowa State, like Oklahoma, has a new coach in Ray Donels and like Missouri has a tackle shortage and a wealth of backs. Donels also must find center replacements since Stanley Brown, his expected starter, was inducted into the army.

Kansas State Better
Kansas State should be better than a year ago when it won only from Kansas but Hobbs Adams' 50-man squad will be 60 percent sophomore with the most glaring weaknesses in the middle of the line.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska are on a virtual par with the schedule giving the Tigers their edge. They play both of their strongest rivals at home and won the 1939 flag with a similar program.

The fight for fourth place should be every bit as close between Kansas State, Iowa State and Kansas.

Reflections in the Sports World
By the Associated Press
Today a Year Ago — Dick Chapman won qualifying medal in national amateur golf with 71-69-140.

Three years ago — El Chico, undefeated two-year-old won $13,500 junior champion stakes at Aqueduct.

Five Years Ago — Lou Gehrig hit forty-fifth home run of the season against the Cleveland Indians.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(The Special News Service)—The girls are making their own news in the women's golf at Brookline.

Besides playing in the tournament, Dorothy Kirby (Atlanta Constitution) and Betty Hicks Newell (Long Beach Press-Telegram) are reporting it for their papers. Minnesota already has sent out an SOS for more tickets for the Washington game September 27 at Seattle. The first allotment of 2,000 is about gone.

The Indians who played the Tigers on Tommy Bridges day all contributed their dimes to help buy a gift for Tom. Nothing like being obliging.

The Thorncliffe race track in Canada has special mutual windows to collect and pay off in U. S. dough. Even Bill Terry isn't arguing about the Dodgers being in the league this year since Brooklyn's games at the Polo Grounds drew 313,147 customers and the Giants cut in on 220,643 admissions at Ebbets Field.

Guys who knew Lou Nova in college weren't surprised at his goofy demonstration of his "cosmic punch." One of them recalls how Lou used to go around with his arm in a sling to rest it so he could throw the javelin better on Saturday.

Football Fricassee
Paul Brown, the Ohio State coach, says he learned a valuable lesson while visiting Tom Heinrich in the Yankees' dressing room this summer. Joe Di Maggio had dropped an easy fly and Brown was waiting for Joe McCarthy to say something, but there wasn't a word. Finally Paul asked when the roof raising would start and one of the Yanks explained: "He never says anything about a physical error, but if any of us had been caught out of position we'd have heard plenty." Carolina football fans say you can look for something to pop when Tennessee plays Furman a week from Saturday and some will even bet you Furman will knock off the Vols. Dave Queen, U. of California center, majors in criminology. He ought to be good on penalties. Leonard Staggs, the Nashville kid who had the college scouts so excited, is going to Copiah-Lincoln junior college for a year or so before heading for the Big Time. The gridiron situation is getting so serious in the southwest that Frank Kimbrough has sold his 13 bird dogs so he can pay more attention to his coaching job at Baylor. And Texas coaches are again the pre-season All-Stars high school games because they make things too easy for outside talent hunters. "At least, moaned one, "We ought to make these outsiders tour Texas hunting the kids."

Today's Guest Star
Deak Morse, St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian-Record: "Larry MacPhail missed the boat when he claimed there was no way to get around Ebbets Field's small seating capacity. If he and Leo the Lip would open their mouths to the greatest extent, bleachers could be erected within them to take care of another 50,000."

Brother Joe
When Joe Di Maggio recently paid a visit to Father Connor of St. John's church in Fairview, N. J., a wide-eyed kid was brought in for a look at the great Di Maggio. Trying to put the boy at ease, Father Connor asked him, "Who's the greatest baseball player in the world today?" The

Must Have Visible Means Of Support
A roundup of persons loitering around Sedalia, without visible means of support, has been started by the local police department under orders of Chief of Police H. "Zone" Anderson. Five persons were picked up Tuesday night in the first drive.

Being held for investigation, are "Blackie" Edwards, Irene Edwards, Charles Tieman, Martha Jones and Kenneth Mabry. They are to be questioned by the police.

The men are held in the city jail and the women are confined to the county jail.

Boy Scouts Fall-Winter Program Is On

Plan Is To Add Many Members To Present Troops

Extensive plans are under way for the extending of Scouting and Cubbing to more boys in the Lake of the Ozarks Council during the fall and winter months. Since the adoption of the Phillips program which made possible the employment of two field executives the council has shown exceptionally fine growth, winning the Walter W. Head Acorn Award in 1940 for this accomplishment. There are, however, hundreds of boys throughout the council who wish to be Cub Scouts or Senior Scouts and who are deprived of that opportunity through lack of sponsorship and leadership for Scouting units. The program this fall is to help remedy this situation.

At the executive board meeting at Sedalia in July a program of expansion was approved and the Organization and Extension committee with L. B. Pratt of Jefferson City as chairman was authorized to proceed. The following plan has been decided.

"Aeroplane Race"
The campaign for new units and new members will be an aeroplane race covering a course of 8,000 miles. The course starts at "Hope" in the "Land of Dreams" and finishes at "Success" in the "Land of Reality." Cities over which the planes fly are Courage, Enthusiasm, Survey, Planning, Organization, Work, Faith, Parent Institution, Man Power, Training and More Work. The council is divided into nine districts, and each district is a plane in the race.

Goals Already Set
The goals for the districts in Scouts and Troops—Cubs and Packs, were set at the beginning of the year. These are the goals in this flight. Miles will be figured on the percent of goals reached, by dividing the accomplishment by the objectives and multiplying by 1,000.

There are eight goals—Total Troops, Packs, Scouts and Cubs, New Troops, Packs, Scouts, and Cubs, making the total of 8,000 miles.

Each district whose plane completes the course will receive a banner—this banner will be awarded at the annual banquet at Sedalia, December 9—by Walter W. Head, president of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America. The troop in the district that makes the best record will have possession of the banner.

In addition the district that goes the farthest beyond its goal by November 30 will receive an American flag to be used as it chooses.

For Troops, Packs, Ships, etc.
The president, Charles B. Gillespie Streamer will go to every troop that makes a satisfactory record in: Membership, Program, Advancement and Activities.

Troop rating plan reports for September, October and November, as well as the council record of registration received, will be used as the basis for this award.

For Scouts and Cubs—Scouters and Cubbers
The Acorn badge will be presented to each Scout or Cub who recruits, trains and follows through to registration a new Scout or Cub. The Organizer Award as explained in the Handbook for Boys is also available.

Promoters of the race are the following: "Plenty of Punch"—L. B. Pratt, chairman of the Organization and Extension committee; "Cinch the Sale"—Charles Smoyer, council commissioner; "We Can Do It"—Charles B. Gillespie, council president, and "Emergency Service"—M. Dribben, field commissioner for Emergency Service.

Among the Planes and personnel are:

Scout Planes
Plane No. 8—"Silver Eagle"—Sedalia District, pilot—"Able"

Abe" Silverman; Navigator—"Jake" J. E. Smith; Chief Mechanic—"Lam" Lee Shannon; Grease Monkey—"Doc" Lawrence Geiger of Sedalia.

Plane No. 9—"Golden Eagle"—Western District, pilot—"Not So Puny" M. N. White of Warsaw; Navigator—"Fighting" Frank Roberts of Windsor; Chief Mechanic—"Veteran" Ralph Dyer of Windsor; Grease Monkey—"Will" W. V. Owen of Lincoln.

Sailors See Movies Every Night on Ships

Almost any motion picture house operator will tell you that retired and ex-navy men are among the nation's most rabid "movie" fans.

For years the navy has made it a policy to provide the best of up-to-the-minute entertainment for its enlisted men and at no cost. The movies shown on board navy ships and at naval stations are usually the latest released.

In addition to free movies, the navy provides many other kinds of recreation and entertainment. For example, nearly every sport is played in the navy, and played well. There are fishing, swimming, fencing, boxing, wrestling, football, basketball, baseball and backgammon, cribbage and other card games, to mention a few.

Organized Entertainment
Bluejackets are particularly keen on a type of organized entertainment called "Happy Hour." They put on events such as climbing up a greased pole, pie-eating contests, stinging, tap dancing, musical instrument playing. Some of the top-notch navy orchestra are the equal of many big name bands on the radio.

Enlisted men in the navy and naval reserve can even learn motion picture operation. There are schools for sound motion-picture technicians. To attend a navy trade school a man must qualify by passing certain tests, but an ambitious young man of average intelligence who really wants to learn about motion pictures slide films and photography has an excellent chance of specializing in this trade or any other that interests him.

The navy and the naval reserve is ready and willing to furnish an enlistee with training worth hundreds of dollars, teaching him to become expert in the trade or vocation for which he is best qualified. This training develops the skills and talents which are latent in him but which he has been unable to capitalize on in civilian life because he does not have the time, money or equipment.

• Shops And Rails

Engine 6411 which was overhauled at the shops was sent to Coffeyville, Kas., for service on the Kansas division.

Engine 6415 which was overhauled at the shops was taken out for a break in Wednesday.

Would Release Surplus Farm Commodities

Treasury Chief Expresses Views On Inflation

BOSTON, Sept. 10—(P)—Declaring that the nation faces inflation now and "must deal with it at once," Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau last night called upon laborers farmers and business men to curb their desires for higher wages and profits in the interest of the nation's welfare.

The public must be taxes more, spend less, save faster and submit to increased regulations, he added in a long-promised pronouncement of his views on inflation delivered before the Advertising Club of Boston.

Morgenthau proposes these two general methods of combatting inflation:

1. By curbing demand for commodities, by higher taxes, regulation of installment credit, and increased savings.

2. By controlling prices, specifically by releasing for consumption surpluses of all commodities—particularly farm products.

Praising President Roosevelt's recent veto of a bill to freeze government stocks of cotton and wheat, Morgenthau declared:

"We ought not to withhold cotton surpluses, or any other surpluses, from the market in times like these."

He proposed that Canadian wheat—of which he said more than 498,000,000 bushels of surplus were available—be admitted in larger volume as was done recently in the case of Cuban sugar.

"It is sheer folly from the farmer's point of view to push prices up by creating scarcities in times like these. The farmers suffered cruelly for 12 long years after the collapse of the inflation of 1920 and 1921; they should not be made to suffer again," Morgenthau said.

behalf of another ferocious beast," he asserted.

Referred To Stalin

Clark obviously referred to Joseph Stalin of Russia, whom he called "Bloody Joe" Stalin at another point in his testimony.

Clark said that the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company, which he said controlled Loew's Inc., and was headed by Nicholas Schenck in New York, had "made one propaganda film after another to house the hatred of the people of America."

"Next to them," he said, "I will put the Warner Brothers, who probably have more of these hate producing films than any other company in America. Next to them I will put 20th Century Fox of which Mr. Joseph M. Schenck was chairman until he was sent to the penitentiary and of which Mr. Darryl Zanuck is now head.

"I should say, next to them though some might dispute their claim to this distinction, is the United Artists, which Mr. Alexander Korda now heads—a Hungarian, who is a British subject and which company is dominated by two British subjects—Mr. Alexander Korda and Mr. Charlie Chaplin, who has lived in this country for thirty years and made a great fortune here, and never thought enough of the United States to become a citizen.

Charges Using Screen

"Both of them are using the instruments of the screen which they have in their possession to poison the minds of the American people to go to war for their respective native countries.

"And high on the list, of course must go the March of Time and the men who control that, chiefly Mr. Henry Luce, who dominates that and a group of publications which are plugging not merely for American entry into the war, but for American abdication of her independence to form a union with Great Britain."

Informed of Willie's comments on his testimony yesterday, Nyc made the following statement:

Willkie, Press Agent

"Mr. Willkie has chosen to make of himself the press agent for the industry, whereas it was thought he was to be their attorney. His press releases are an excellent example of thorough carelessness and rough treatment of truth. He takes no end of liberty in representing me on things I have not said. But knowing Willkie as I do I can be confident there will come a day when this is all over—when Willkie will say that what he said and did now was just a bit of campaign oratory.

"It does not become Mr. Willkie or those he represents to raise the charge of bigamy after what I did yesterday to bury this influence, which some, like Willkie are determined to use to cover up the real and serious issue involved in this propaganda study."

"You might make your own deductions."

The speech, of course, could be revised at any time before its delivery.

Hassett said he had no way of knowing whether the address might embrace any announcements, but he added: "I told you originally it would be important and that statement stands."

Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied the president back to the capital.

Peace Officers Want Patrol Aid

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—(P)—A resolution urging continued use of the State Highway Patrol for criminal investigation will be drafted next week and sent to Gov. Forrest C. Donnell by the Missouri State Peace Officers' Association.

Chief of Police Andrew McDonnell of suburban Webster Groves, treasurer of the association, said the executive committee decided on the resolution at a meeting yesterday.

"It means a lot to every sheriff and police department in the state to continue having the patrol's assistance on criminal cases," McDonnell contended.

The attorney general's office recently ruled that such work was out on the patrol's jurisdiction.

War Skulking Near Japanese Council Door

way, the mud has arrived in the worst type of gumbo across the steppes of Russia, and Tokyo is debating whether to hedge the bet.

Would Like Time

The probabilities are that the general public of Japan would shed no tears if the government tossed the axis pact overboard—provided always that the new order weren't jettisoned also. Of course, a boon for which the government would give a good right arm would be about six months leeway in which to look the field over and see whether Germany is, or is not, going to win the war.

In this connection I recall that the allies struck a spot of bother in 1916 over a phenomenon that developed in Tokyo, although so far as I know a stern censorship prevented publication of the affair. I was in London, and received from New York a letter saying that the American financial pundits had noted an exceptional flow of gold to Tokyo, and an unusual manipulation of stocks and bonds, and were anxious to know just what it meant.

Bankers Watching Tokyo

I took the problem to the manager of one of the big American banks in London. The minute I mentioned the subject he glanced hastily over his shoulder and said mysteriously:

"I can't talk about that here. Come to my house for dinner to-night and I'll tell you what's in the wind."

Well, to cut the story short, he said that English bankers also had been watching this phenomenon in Tokyo and were convinced the Japanese were getting themselves into such a favorable financial position that they would be masters of their own fate, just in case Tokyo felt impelled to dissociate herself from the allies. At that time, of course, relations between the Nipponese and the other allies weren't too happy, though later they were straightened out.

Russian Army Is Isolated In Leningrad

reported to have turned its attention to the other end of the line, to Odessa on the Black sea.

Hitler Reports Progress

Today's communique from Hitler's headquarters threw little light on the situation, however, merely reporting further "steady successes in attack" on the eastern frontier.

Although it was acknowledged that an outlet across Lake Lodga still was available to the Leningrad defenders, a German spokesman said there were no adequate harbors along the lake where ships could be loaded to send reinforcements to the city.

"Meantime," he said, "our air force is getting in some licks here, too."

The spokesman reiterated emphatically that all Leningrad's land connections are severed and said the Neva Canal was in German hands, thereby cutting communications with Schlusselburg, 21 miles east of Leningrad.

Believe Capture Inevitable

Other Nazi military commentators estimated that at least 1,000,000 Soviet troops were manning the defenses of Leningrad and said their eventual capture or annihilation seemed inevitable.

Expressing confidence that the fall of the great city was only a matter of time, these sources asserted that even if the Russians could hold out under the shells and air bombs already raining upon them the lack of food ultimately would compel them to surrender.

Vast quantities of food are necessary to feed a city of 3,200,000 residents, augmented by a third as many troops, and it is inconceivable that Leningrad has sufficient supplies to last very many days, the Germans said.

Blow At Arms Production

By cutting off the city—a great industrial center—from the rest of Russia, German armed forces have struck a heavy blow at Soviet armaments production, commentators declared.

The blow is even more paralyzing, it was said, because manufacturing areas around Dnieperpetrovsk and Krivoi Rog in the Ukraine are now in German hands and the destruction of the great Dnieper dam by the Russians themselves left many factories east of that river without power.

Another important result of the Leningrad encirclement, the Germans said, has been to halt traffic on the Stalin canal linking the Gulf of Finland with the White sea, thus in effect isolating the Russian Baltic fleet.

Rain Hampers Operation

Heavy rainstorms were said to be hampering operations both around Leningrad and on other sectors of the front, but Dienst Aus Deutschland, which has close connections with the foreign office, said that the front remained fluid and that fighting had not entered into the phase of trench warfare.

Presented by Harold T. Lincoln, colonel on the governor's staff, the picture is of the Wilson Creek battle field.

Accepting the picture, Mrs. Donnell said that only a few days before her son, John, had remarked that "there is just one thing this mansion needs and that is a nice picture over the mantel."

The picture was presented at a luncheon which came after Governor Donnell had toured the stock barns and helped award numerous prizes to exhibitors. After lunch the governor and his wife walked about the grounds, meeting many of the visitors. Their party left at mid afternoon.

President Has Ordered New Board Created

Purpose To Look Into Railway Owners' Employees Dispute

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—

(P)—President Roosevelt ordered the creation today of a board to investigate the facts in the dispute between most of America's railways and their employees—a dispute which threatens to stop rail operations at a time when vital defense materials are moving over the lines.

The personnel of the five-man board will be announced later.

The 900,000 employees of 14 non-operating unions had set 6 p. m. tomorrow for a strike and the 350,000 workmen of five operating brotherhoods had voted to go out next Monday.

Also involved are members of three organizations of railway express workers.

The fact-finding board has 30 days in which to report to the president, and no strike may become effective, under the Railway Labor Act, until another 30 days after the report has been filed.

No Reconciliation

The National Railway Mediation Board had been unable to reconcile the differences between the carriers and the men who run their lines.

The operating brotherhoods have been unyielding in a demand for a 30 percent increase in the basic rates of pay. The non-operating unions wanted the basic hourly pay rate increased by 30 to 34 cents.

In his proclamation ordering a fact-finding board established Mr. Roosevelt said the disputes between the several groups of labor organizations and the railways "now threaten substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service."

Name Five Men

Ordinarily a three-man board is appointed to investigate labor controversies involving the railways. But the current strike situation is so broad and important that the chief executive decided that five men should be named. They are to be persons "not peculiarly or otherwise interested" in any of the unions or carriers, and they will be paid $75 each a day, plus expenses.

Attached to the proclamation was a nine-page list of the carriers involved in the dispute.

In a vigorous, full-time resumption of the multiple duties of his office, the president tried today to forget the personal tragedy of the death of his mother.

Matters of both domestic and international significance once again commanded Mr. Roosevelt's attention. They had been shoved into the background from the time his mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt, died Sunday until she was buried late yesterday.

of the destruction of 100 German tanks and armored cars in operations Sunday.

It also declared 42 German guns, 300 trench mortars, 560 trucks and cars of three cavalry squadrons, 225 motorcycles and 16 radio stations had been put out of action in recent fighting.

Lozovsky said the scope of the Russian attack on the central front was limited but that the reported shattering of eight Nazi divisions in a drive of 12 miles or more westward from the railroad village of Yelnyn toward Smolensk fitted into a military pattern with Red army defense plans at Odessa and Leningrad.

Russians United

"The main thing" he said, "is that the might of the Red army, the unity of the Soviet people and the reserves of manpower and industry are great potentialities not only for resistance but also for counter blows."

Lozovsky declared there was "incessant fighting of unprecedented intensity" along the zig-zag battleline.

Rain and cold weather fore-runners of more severe conditions to come, were reported by Lozovsky to have set in on the northern front.

Soldiers Didn't Wait Up To Hear Sally Rand

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo., Sept. 10.—(P)—The prospect of seeing Sally Rand wasn't enough to keep 13,800 soldiers awake.

Scheduled to speak at two service clubs last night, the lady of the fans appeared at 10 p. m. three hours late. Only 200 soldiers heard her first talk and a handful was present for the second one. Taps sounded before she had finished.

Other troops at the fort, accustomed to the army's rigorous routine, went to bed when she failed to make an appearance at the scheduled time.

Officers, with whom she was supposed to dine, waited two hours and then ate their meals cold.

Miss Rand explained she had intended to fly here but couldn't because of the rain and was delayed coming by automobile.

Highway Patrol Cracks Down On Law Violators

BY DON DOANE
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 10.—(P)—The highway patrol wasn't fooling when it warned Missouri motorists last week it would crack down on traffic law violators.

In its first weekend of tighter enforcement, the patrol arrested 70 percent more drivers than in the five preceding weekends.

"This policy of raising the enforcement index on Missouri's highways will continue without abatement," declared acting patrol Superintendent W. J. Ramsey. "Motorists who have heretofore been warned for traffic violations which might have led to serious accident or death will hereafter be promptly arrested and caused to answer for their misdeeds."

The patrol's stiffened attitude is part of a state drive against highway accidents, which have increased sharply this year in Missouri, killing 617 persons in the first eight months.

New Expenses

Nearly half the state's monthly payroll goes to administer social welfare and educational programs—many of which were not even in existence 10 years ago.

A report compiled by the office of State Auditor Forrest Smith at the request of federal officials showed the state's July payroll totaled $1,252,186. It went to 14,098 employees, 9,732 of them full-time workers and 4,366 part-time or temporary.

Of that number, 5518 workers drawing $489,276 were employed under such social welfare categories as charities, hospitals, unemployment compensation, conservation, education, recreation and libraries.

Unemployment compensation alone had 1,045 workers drawing $117,150 monthly. The 2,408 hospital employees got $136,057. Charities—including the big social security program—came in for $148,046 divided among 1,734 employees.

For purely administrative functions—which once constituted the major expense of running the state government—there were only 826 workers and a monthly payroll of $116,052.

Streets and highways led all other branches of state activities with 5,789 employees—only 1,738 of them full-time—and a $430,577 payroll.

The penal system had 596 employees and a $65,356 payroll. It took 634 workers and $95,442 for "protection," a term including police and regulatory activities. The judiciary got by with $47,825 for its staff of 152.

Governor A Busy Man

It would strain the state budget to pay wage-hour law scales for the overtime Gov. Forrest C. Donnell has piled up in his first six months in the executive office. He's at his desk early and works steadily until a late dinner—and often far into the night.

However, Donnell plans no formal vacation this year. He hopes to take some time off to attend the National Bar Association convention. But he even qualifies that with "I doubt I'll spend more than a day there."

U. S. Industrial Plants May Be Camouflaged

Discuss Preventative Measures Against Aerial Attacks

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—American industrialists were urged today to give serious consideration to the possibility of camouflaging their plants, building underground factories and decentralizing production as preventive measures against the contingency of aerial attack.

As an example of their utter destructiveness of bombers, W. Stuart Symington, president of the Emerson Electric Manufacturing company, described how a great new British factory with 500,000 feet of floor space, "the largest of its kind in the world," had been blasted into rubble within a few brief minutes by a single Nazi plane.

Returned From Inspection Trip
Symington, who returned recently from an inspection trip to England as an OPM representative, spoke last night at a national defense meeting sponsored by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The German bomber, he said, had lowered its landing gear and nosed down toward the British factory as if preparing to alight on the plant's private landing field.

Supposing the plane to be British, the factory guards relaxed their vigilance. Then, from an altitude of only 40 feet, the German plane suddenly discharged its explosive cargo and roared away. The bombs converted everything in the great factory into a mass of twisted brick and steel.

Experiences Disasters

As a result of such disastrous experiences, Symington said, directors of British war material production decided to disperse factory facilities as much as practicable, rather than concentrate all operations for straight line manufacturing.

"Plants have been placed in mines and on the sides of hills, where their presence is cleverly disguised," he reported. "I saw one plant covered with hedges and fences which, from the air, looked like an unbroken part of the countryside."

Smoke palls, deliberately created by lighting pipes set up for miles around, are one of the English devices for protecting vital factories from the view of sky raiders, he added.

Hot Weather Dish

For a perfect hot weather supper dish try a two-story sandwich. Make one filling of vegetables and the second of meat and you have a perfectly balanced meal that is easy and appetizing.

England Will Restrict Its Exports

To Prevent Nazis From Attempting To Hamper Trade

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 10.—(P)—Britain, gravely concerned over charges that materials obtained from the United States under the Lease-Lend Act were being used in direct competition with American industry in export markets, promised today to prevent such misuse and to restrict British exports.

The British government was concerned, among other things, over what its leaders called the "propaganda value to Germany" of these charges that American industry, after sacrificing to send raw materials to Britain under the Lease-Lend Act, was being hit in foreign markets by competition with goods made from these materials.

Announced In White Paper
The agreement with the United States was announced in a white paper and was said by a reliable source to be one of a series of steps planned "to prevent Germany from using lease-lend grubbing as the thin edge of a wedge to pry Britain and the United States apart and hamper the allied war effort."

Britain, this informant said, expects such a German propaganda campaign to come to a head soon and wants to be able to meet it. He asserted the campaign is now under way in Britain as well as in the United States; that by word of mouth seeds of dissension were being sown in British "pubs" and factories.

Charges Made
The charge is heard here, the source said, that the United States is trying to use the lease-lend program to bar Britain from exporting anything so that the United States can steal all British foreign markets, thus throwing British labor out of jobs after the war.

On the other hand in the United States, it was said, charges are made that Britain was accepting lease-lend goods and then sending British goods to South America to steal United States trade. "Actually," the source said, "our exports to South America have fallen off considerably, but the service departments won't let us give figures because they might give too much information to German sea raiders."

Good Will Advertisements
"One example of the kind of thing being used to strike at Anglo-American friendship," the source said, "is good will advertisements a British airplane concern published in a magazine with circulation abroad."

"Actually, this concern did not have any planes to export, but advertised to keep itself from being forgotten when the war ends and it can export planes."

In some cases, it was said, Britain was exporting goods made from materials of the cash-and-carry days and contracted for them, but delivered during the time of lease-lend. This provided a source for some of the charges heard, it was said.

The white paper consisted of correspondence between Foreign Secretary Eden and U. S. Ambassador Winant regarding the lease-lend agreement, and a memorandum in general terms stating the reasons and background of the agreement.

Seven Points
A memorandum which accompanied a letter from Eden to Winant made these points:
1. All materials the British obtained under lease-lend "are required for prosecution of the war effort" and the British government promises to "continue to take action" to prevent diversions "to the furtherance of private interests."

2. Lease-lend material has not been used and will not be used by the British for export.

3. The British "have not and will not apply any materials similar to those supplied under lease-lend in such a way as to enable exporters to enter new markets or extend their export trade" at the expense of United States exporters.

4. From its promise not to re-export lease-lend material, the British government made an exception of special cases such as parts to complete installations already under construction.

5. The British promised to control distribution of lease-lend goods in the United Kingdom so that there "will be no more than a fair return for services rendered in the work of distribution," and this will be mainly through government agencies.

6. No food obtained through lease-lend will be sold at uncontrolled prices.

7. Free distribution of such goods as milk products will be adopted in some cases.

Hunt For Missing Army Bomber

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10.—(P)—A forbidding 4,330 foot Cascade mountain ridge was combed today by searching parties hunting for an army bomber which vanished early yesterday with six men aboard.

The ridge is approximately 25 miles north of towering Mount Rainier, between the Snoqualmie and Chinook pass cross-state highways.

Col. William H. Crom, commander of McChord field, the bomber's base, believed that the bomber might have turned southward from the Spokane-Seattle radio beam too soon as it approached Seattle, not reckoning with a tricky head wind. The ship's natural course would bear from the beam to reach its base, to the southwest.

Searchers went to the region on foot and by truck after a thorough search of the region adjacent to McChord field proved fruitless.

The twin-motored bomber is of the same type which carried seven men to death against a mountain side near Morton Wash., last January.

Aboard the bomber were: Second Lieut. Edward H. Valenz, 28, Chicago, the chief pilot; Second Lieut. John W. Winship, 25, Riverside, Calif., co-pilot and bridegroom of only a week; Staff Sgt. Robert D. Dexter, 23, Victorville, Calif., radioman; Sgt. James W. Pace, 20, Seagoville, Tex.; Private Jack J. Hupert, 22, Milwaukee, Wis., and Private Milford Wright, St. Louis, Mo.

Bride From the Sky

By HELEN WILSHIMER

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: While Judy Allen is waiting at Lufthansa Airport to interview a famous fashion expert for the magazine, which she is an associate editor, she runs into Sandy Ammerman, dashing young aviator, about to leave on a test flight to San Francisco. They make a date and Sandy leaves on his flight. The fashion expert doesn't show up, and Judy makes plans to interview someone else for her column. The next morning, on her way uptown, Judy is started by a headline in the newspaper.

CHAPTER II

THERE were four paragraphs on the front page of the newspaper. Four paragraphs encircled in a heavy black line.

Her wide, brown eyes became darker, deeper, lonelier. The story was brief, terse, final. It didn't tell about the string of records Sandy had hung up. It didn't mention the way he had beaten the winds from coast to coast. It didn't even say that he was brave and gallant and had invented a parachute.

It did say, though, that no radio communications with Sandy had been established for 10 hours. It was thought that no time had been given the flyer to radio for help. Somewhere, high over the mountains, he had known his ship was cracking up.

She read again the small lead above the single column.

FLYER BELIEVED DEAD;
RESCUE SQUAD UNABLE TO FIND MISSING PLANE
BELIEVED DEAD. Then nobody knew that he was dead. Slowly the words began to take clearer meaning. Perhaps Sandy and found him somewhere. Ten minutes later, seated at her desk, she was going over the list of waited somewhere. Oh, of course she couldn't wing her thoughts to him! The air was filled with traffic noises, radio sounds and radio static, and away to the west, high white hills resounded with the roar of rivers and cataracts.

The door opened quietly; Phil smiled at her. He was tall, lean, well-built. "You've seen the morning newspapers?" Phil half-asked, half-stated. She nodded.

She could pray for him, though. She closed her eyes and sent a message skyward, westward.

She pushed the button and left the bus at 42nd street. She couldn't even wait until she reached her own office with its cream carpet and furniture, its rose chintz draperies and crystal bowls of roses. Instead she darted into a cigar store, found an empty booth, and dialed Skyways Incorporated. She talked for a long time. Several times she put in nickels. She knew that she was insisting that a wider search be made for Sandy. She knew, too, that the company was promising to do its best.

"Who are you?" the courteous voice, 10 miles away, asked. "A sister—young Ammerman wasn't married, was he?"

"No, no, he wasn't married." But he had wanted to be. He had asked her half a dozen times. And she wouldn't be engaged. Now he was gone and she would forget her job, anyone, anything if he would come back and smile at her.

To the person at Skyways Incorporated, she said, "I'm Sandy Ammerman's fiancée."

SHE hung up and walked swiftly out of the shop, lost herself in the crowd that hurried up Fifth avenue. Sandy Ammerman's fiancée. He didn't know it. Probably he never would. But she felt an invisible, curious bond had slipped out of the telephone booth probable interviews for that morning.

Life was odd, she mused as she checked names. It changed its tempo so quickly. One moment a marching song, the next, a death watch. Life was a ball of worsted, tangled too madly for further use—a painted mask you mustn't take off—a song you couldn't sing any more.

Outside the rain began, and great drops were flung against the window pane. The yellow lamps were pools of brightness that cast lambent shadows on the low shelves of books the shiny covers of which attested to their newness. The chairs, grouped informally around her long desk, were deep and inviting.

Only three days ago Sandy had sat in the nearest one, long legs stretched carelessly, one hand tumbling the rough, bright hair, gray eyes trying to see mountains and rivers so he might bring them to her.

"Maybe you're near-sighted and I'm far-sighted," he had said, a little wearily, at last. "You want to see your name on your magazine cover down in the streets, and I want to set my chart for some place that isn't the least important to me except that I've never been there! Perhaps I shouldn't try to change you. It's just that—I love you, Judy. But come on, I really came by to take you to dinner."

She had gone and they had been gay. Almost too gay. They had dined at a little French place on West 57th street where the food was excellent. They had taken a cab to a rendezvous in the Village where a blind musician smilingly played anyone's requests, and boys, with voices deep and thundering, sang for their supper while they studied for grand opera. Now and again one of them found a spot in musical comedy and kept climbing higher.

From there Sandy and Judy had

Times Square, and ended the evening on the terrace outside the Rainbow Room, because an orchestra was playing a waltz, and the music was sweeter as heard from the April night, with stars and lights and flowers everywhere, than it ever was from the revolving floor.

BUT Sandy was gone. She began checking proofs. She must forget him. Make a calendar of days and never leave an hour, not even half an hour, for remembering.

She could pretend that nothing had happened, that he had flown away—what was it he had said—something about going to a place that wasn't the least important to him except that he never had been there?

The door opened quietly. She had no appointment with Philip Rogers, junior partner of Blake, Blake and Rogers who handled all legal business for the magazine and publishing house. Yet Phil smiled at her now. His hair was brown, she noticed oddly, for she had seen that head several times a week ever since she had come to work on the staff of Under Twenty. He was tall, lean, well built.

If his eyes lacked the laughter lines that Sandy's knew, it was because he had not gazed so high and far, Judy reminded herself. His voice was low, cheerful, comforting. Not so deep, not half so restless, yet not so restful, as Sandy's would have been.

"You've seen the morning newspapers?" Phil half-asked, half-stated.

She nodded. "Tough luck," the man's voice sympathized.

Tough luck . . . to fly away in the rain and never come back. Tough luck!

Judy rose suddenly. Her bright hair shone and her eyes found the violet tones and deepened.

"Phil, will you do something for me? Go some place with me—at once?"

"And if I do?" Phil's voice, not quite steady, asked.

(To Be Continued)

A new light plane now in production is the Stinson Voyager. The plane has an electric starter, slots, flaps, hydraulic brakes, and seats three. Powered by a 90 horsepower engine, the top speed is 115 miles an hour with a ceiling of 13,000 feet.

It is estimated that up to Sept. 30, 1939, taxes levied on motor vehicle users totaled $1,601,000,000 for that year.

English is the official language of all Philippine courts and their records.

Yugoslavs Rejected Axis Pact, Made Peter King

THE ascendancy of 17-year-old King Peter II of Yugoslavia to the throne, March 27, 1941, infuriated Adolf Hitler, influenced him to launch his Balkan campaign with an attack on Yugoslavia.

The stage had been set for the type of Nazi infiltration that took place in Rumania and Bulgaria. Prince Regent Paul, reportedly goaded by his pro-Axis wife, Princess Olga, had signed a pact making Yugoslavia a part of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance. After a night of rioting, young Peter overthrew the regency and took the throne, inciting Hitler to war.

The stamp above was issued by the government in 1933 honoring Peter, then a young prince. It was issued in connection with the 60th anniversary meeting of the National Sokols, a sports association. Peter was born in 1923 and grew up in Belgrade. His mother was Princess Marie of Rumania, daughter and namesake of Queen Marie. Peter was sent to England to study at the age of 11 but after only 13 days tragedy brought him home. His father, King Alexander, was assassinated as he disembarked at Marseille, France. Peter fled to England after the German invasion of this year.

Grain Prices Tumbled Down

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(AP)—An outburst of selling today caused grain and soybeans prices to tumble from four year peak levels.

Wheat and rye fell more than 3 cents, corn and oats more than 2 cents and soybeans 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents at the extreme.

Liquidation was touched off by a statement of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau advocating release of surplus farm commodities, including wheat and corn, now held by the government and increased imports of Canadian wheat in order to check inflationary price rises.

Heavy profit taking also attracted by the fact that prices have risen swiftly, particularly in the past two weeks, with grains up 5 to 12 cents and soybeans almost 40 cents a bushel in that period.

Despite a rally in the session due to some covering of previous short sales and buying attributed to mills,
